SirsiDynix SchoolRooms™ Launches Redesigned Web Site

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., October 23, 2006 – SirsiDynix, the global leader in strategic technology solutions for libraries, announced today the launch of a redesigned and enhanced Web site for SchoolRooms™ at www.schoolrooms.net.

SchoolRooms is an online learning portal geared to the K-12 community. Using SchoolRooms, students can search libraries, interactive educational media and the Web simultaneously. The SchoolRooms Web site now delivers more user-friendly and interactive information regarding the portal through additional screen captures and an opportunity to demo the portal. The site will also deliver in-depth and up-to-date information through:

- a list of the 71 virtual rooms of content for elementary, middle and high school levels
- a list and individual biographies of the 200 teachers, librarians, educational consultants and usability experts, the professionals who made SchoolRooms possible
- an online SchoolRooms newsletter
- relevant press releases and recent press coverage specifically regarding SchoolRooms
- client case studies that highlight success stories of existing customers successfully integrating SchoolRooms
- a list of upcoming conferences where SchoolRooms will be live in action and SchoolRooms professionals will be available

SchoolRooms provides a single, student-friendly interface to high-quality content from the school library's catalog, other public library catalogs, online databases, e-content from publishers, popular Internet search engine results and teacher-selected Web sites. Developed by SirsiDynix in collaboration with INFOhio, the Information Network for Ohio Schools, SchoolRooms is designed to cover both U.S. and state education standards.

Based on the SirsiDynix Rooms™ content management platform, SchoolRooms promotes exploration, discovery and learning to supplement any curriculum. Content is presented in virtual rooms that help students discover information, provide educators with access to quality materials and enable parents to find appropriate resources for improving their children's education.

Angus Carroll, SirsiDynix chief marketing officer, said, "Through SchoolRooms, we are assisting schools, libraries and other organizations in playing more strategic roles within their communities – bringing knowledge in all its forms to real people to meet real needs. Today's K-12 students face many challenges when looking for information, such as an overwhelming number of search results or sources of questionable quality. SchoolRooms helps students make sense of the many resources at their fingertips by presenting relevant, high-quality information in context so that they can find the right information when they need it. The enhanced SchoolRooms Web site will give those searching for information and content management solutions an improved feel for the portal, as well as an opportunity to better demo the features."
