SirsiDynix Support Center Launches New Learning Management System

Mentor 2.0 now live and supporting customer learning world-wide

April 13, 2016, LEHI, UT — SirsiDynix is excited to announce the release of Mentor 2.0, the new learning management system for the SirsiDynix Support Center. Mentor 2.0 includes an intuitive new user-interface as well as simplified access to educational resources.

The Mentor 2.0 system went live in Q1. All SirsiDynix customers have access to Mentor 2.0 as a resource for learning about their SirsiDynix technology. The new learning system offers improved subscription access definitions, new management options, and effortless access to classes. The SirsiDynix Professional Services department has been supporting the transition to the new learning site with the availability of a downloadable how-to guide, a self-paced Mentor 2.0 tutorial, as well as both live and on-demand webinars.

"Mentor 2.0 is an important resource for our customers," said Tim Hyde, SirsiDynix VP of Professional Services. "The improved capabilities of Mentor 2.0 allow us to provide easy access to resources and training. Our highest priority in Professional Services is to help our customers maximize their capabilities with our software. We are pleased to offer our customers this resource that helps them get the most out of their next-generation tools."
